FORMER MEMBERS OF HEALTH BOARD ON WITNESS STAND

Are Summoned in Action of City Against Garbage Plant Bonding Co.

The city garbage scandal which was exploited so fully in 1910 and 1911 was revived again today when the suit of the City of Bridgeport against the Aetna Indemnity Co. of Hartford was heard in the county court house with Attorney James E. Wheeler of New Haven acting as committee. The Indemnity Co. furnished a $10,000 bond for the Bridgeport By-Products Co. which had the garbage reduction contract. When the company failed to keep its contract the city brought suit to recover from the bonding company. The Aetna company, since this suit was brought, went into the hands of a receiver and Attorney Wheeler was named by the superior court to hear evidence in the city's suit. The By-Products Co., through President Livingston, gave notice May 6, 1910, that it would suspend the contract with the city because there was too much foreign matter in the garbage. It was claimed that an alarm clock, a statue of an angel and other works of art had been found in the daily collection. The Board of Health members declared this was the first complaint they had received about foreign matter. They claimed the real reason for suspending the contract was that somebody in Cleveland, O., intended to foreclose on the plant. Dr. E. F. Fitzgerald, Dr. George E. Ober and Dr. C. W. Osborne, who were members of the board at that time, testified today. John T. King, who had the contract for collecting the garbage, was also on hand with the books and papers showing the amount of the collections.

Germans Push Cavalry Dash Toward Warsaw

London, July 27.—The magnitude of the German enveloping movement in the eastern field now is absorbing the attention of the British officials and public. The latest report shows that General Von Budlow's 30,000 cavalry have turned southward from their position within 80 miles of the railway connecting Petrograd with Warsaw. In this way the northern German line is closing in on the main north-south axis of the Russian capital while the southern army similarly is approaching the main southern artery running to Odessa.

The Times declares human history can show no parallel to the tremendous extent of this enveloping movement which, it says, involves Russia and the western allies comparing with Russian resistance to a Mongolian invasion.

The Times believes the operations are a real danger not alone to Warsaw but to the whole system of railway defenses of which the city is the center and it is now apparent that the Germans are planning to envelop the entire Russian army in this region. The newspaper points out that the fall of Warsaw would have a grave significance for the west as it will mean that Russia's power to resume a successful offensive will have been indefinitely postponed, and that the principal military operations will be in the hands of Germany.

Today's Petrograd official statement says that the Germans have been thrown back at one point of the Narva river bridge some 10 miles from the city. The military observer here holds that the final results depend largely upon Russia prolonging her resistance until climatic conditions in that country interfere with the full realization of the German plan. Reports from the other military fronts, with the exception of the Italian front, where the Italians claim to have taken 1,800 prisoners, show comparative inactivity.

BATTLES ALONG ISONZO "MIGHTIEST OF WAR"

Berlin, July 27.—The battles between the Italians and Austrians along the Isonzo river are described by the correspondent in the Tyrol of the Lokal Anzeiger as the "mightiest and most frightful of the world war." The great struggle has lasted a week, the correspondent says, without any decision having been reached. The principal Italian onslaught had been directed against the Dobrodo plateau, where the Austrians are reported to have been repulsed in a battle of intense intensity that of the battles at Tarnow and Gorlice in Galicia. The correspondent adds:

"The conflict directed from captive balloons lasted three days without any interruption and after only a few hours pause was resumed. The Austrian army, which is composed of soldiers of nearly all the nationalities in the dual monarchy, endures the terrible fear bravely and when the Italians gain a position they are soon thrust out of it."

"Italian aviators are continually seeking to destroy the railways at the rear of the Austrian lines, especially around Nabresina, but thus far they have done no great damage."

Peanut Politics In Stratford, Is Charged By Curtis

In taxes cannot be granted by the selectmen without a written recommendation from him. Other men, he asserted, further claimed that any abatement of taxes by the selectmen is illegal.

According to Dr. Curtis' statement it was Justice's poor mother that he was thinking of. Mr. Lay said when he was in favor of granting the abatement.

The meeting grew heated when William said, "Now, Doc, cut out this talk of 'politics.' This has nothing to do with peanut politics in this town." In the height of the accusations and denials and when the meeting was waxing warmest, the intimation was made at the meeting that probably the taxes and interest had been paid up. A telephone message to Tax Collector John Wilcoxson verified this belief. He declared that the money owed for eight years had been paid in this morning.

A vote was then taken and it was unanimously agreed to rescind the action of last Saturday.

CELESTIAL PLANTS 15c Per dozen JOHN RECK & SON

RUSSIAN, ACTING STRANGELY ABOUT ARMS PLANT, HELD

Mystery surrounds today the identity and purpose of Philip Nirka, Jr., aged 22, who gave his address as 590 Hallett street, when he was arrested this morning by Policemen James A. Burns upon a technical charge of "loitering" about the Remington U. M. C. company on Barnum avenue.

Prior to his arrest he had been acting suspiciously and the attention of private guards of the U. M. C. Co. was attracted to his actions and those of five other Russians, one of whom later proved to be his father.

When arrested by Burns, Nirka was on Barnum avenue near the gate leading into the enclosure located at what was once Pauline street. He had been darting back and forth into the big crowd seeking employment and passing notes from one to another of about five other Russian speaking persons along the thoroughfare.

A distinguished looking man, with flowing whiskers, who spoke no English but was said by some of the guards about the city as the editor of a prominent Russian newspaper, was the recipient of one of these exchanges. When Nirka was asked his business he refused to make any statement. Asked who the distinguished man was he replied, "Go and find out." He was then told by Burns to either keep in the employment line or walk along the street and mind his own business. This he refused to do and was placed under arrest.

At the police station, he gave his name and address and through an interpreter the elderly gentleman who had accompanied him to the station house declared himself to be the youth's father. He could not talk English and an interpreter was procured. The father said that a quantity of employment cards of the U. M. C. Co. taken from the pockets of his son, had been given to the youth by the agent of the Russian government located in the U. M. C. plant here. This statement was later said to have been denied by the company's officials who were inclined to believe the men spies or "cranks."

Every available member of the "espionage" staff of the U. M. C. guard has today been detailed to trace the movements of the men associated with Nirka and ascertain what their real motive was in loitering about the plant.

While those who wished to bail him out at the time of his arrest were told that "no bonds had been set," it was later agreed that a bond of $20 could be accepted but through apparent misunderstanding, the prisoner has not been taken from the cell.

Strike Plans Held In Abeyance While Keppler Is Absent

Theatre and was offered $7 to deliver a box, promptly at 8 o'clock, in Bond street, and leave it near the Remington plant buildings.

According to the story told the police, the driver refused to be bailed and returned to his office and reported the happening. The police were immediately informed.

At 7 o'clock one of the men were seen at the railroad station by the driver and he informed the policeman on duty there. The policeman believed him but he disappeared. It is believed he scaled the fence that runs between the station and underneath the tracks at the station.

AWAIT NEW PLAN OF U. S. TOWARD MEXICO FACTIONS

Washington, July 27.—Official announcement that the United States government shortly would make a definite move to solve the Mexican problem, led to some speculation here to what to just what course would be pursued.

The most probable step, it was said, will be to make a final plea to General Carranza to cease his efforts to restore peace, failing in this, conferences of other Mexican chiefs would be urged. A government formed by them might be recognized by the United States and aid given to maintain it.

Washington, July 27.—Carranza troops have evacuated Naco and left a civil administration. Their action relieves a threatening situation in which Major General Funston had orders to shell the Mexican factions away from the border if the fighting endangered American territory.

ACCUSES COMPANIONS TO POLICEMAN; PLEADS FOR THEM IN HEARING

A fine of $5 and costs was assessed in each case in the city court this morning by Judge Frederic A. Bartlett, when William Slowitzky, 210 Willard street, Paul Beach, 170 Willard street and Leon Bych, 117 Hallett street, were called to answer to the charge of breach of the peace and assault. Paul complained to Policeman William Halpin at midnight last night that Bych and Slowitzky had "beat him up." In the city court this morning Beach refuted his statement to the police and said that although he asserted that he was mixed up in the argument, based on religion and war, that the two accused were innocent of assaulting him. The judge fined each of the participants $5 and costs.

Negress, Failing At Suicide, Says Iodine Is "Good Appetizer"

"Well, it ought to act as an appetizer, anyway," said Florence Atkins of 460 Broad street today, after Dr. J. P. Deery had washed about a quart of an ounce of iodine out of her stomach with the stomach pump. Florence is a negress. Her husband, George, is a teamster when he works at all. Lately he has been drinking and threatening to leave her. Florence said she did not intend to commit suicide but merely meant to frighten George and keep him home.

Fire in the lumber yard of the Diamond Match Co., at Oswego, N. Y., caused damage estimated at $600,000.
